Subject: Discontinuation of AT&T Post Paid Calling Cards
63.71 Application of SBC Long Distance, LLC, d/b/a AT&T Long Distance

To Who It May Concern:

I was a former Telecommunications Specialist for the Department of Defense.

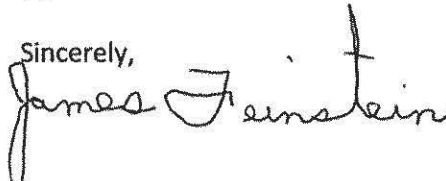

I am writing to voice my opposition to the discontinuation of AT&T postpaid long distance calling cards for the following reason:

No company that I have come across offers the identical service.

1. Those other companies that do offer postpaid calling card services have restrictions on where one is allowed to call. With the AT&T postpaid calling cards, I can call any number in the world, including satellite phones, with a possible exception of countries that could be prohibited from being called by Federal law.
2. Those other companies that do offer postpaid calling cards require USA toll free access numbers, verses an international access number from an overseas country, while residing overseas. So countries where USA toll free numbers are not allowed cannot access USA calling cards from those other countries.
3. Prepaid calling cards have many more restrictions than any postpaid calling cards.

I would appreciate an individual acknowledgement of this correspondence, verses a standard "Dear John" letter. Finally, if another company does offer the equivalent of these AT&T calling cards, without omission of any one of the services that these cards offer, please let me know.

Sincerely,

James Feinstein
